Sofge said, "The Bret Harte Dairy, supported by its loyal milk producers, seeks to increase its local sales to the point where the establishment here in Nevad County of a milk carton packaging plant is possible.

"With proper suppport from local consumers it will also be possible to manufacture cottage cheese, buttermilk, butter and ice cream right here in Nevada County. This is an industry which logically belongs here and should be here."

"This new industry would add materially to the one million dollar investment of the local dairy industry. It would also add to the one-half million dollars spent here each year by the dairy industry."

HISTORICAL SOCIETY NOTES

On November 14, 1947, the Nugget published an article by H. P. Davis on the early fires of Nevada City and the organization of the first fire companies. Fires which swept the city during its early existance occurred in 1851, '52, '54, '55, '56, '58, '60, and '63.

The following newspaper article from the Nevada Democrat, Sept. 17, 1856 tells of the rebuilding of Nevada City after the most devastating fire, July 19, of that year. The combined force of wind and flame laid the town in a heap of smouldering ruins in one short half hour.

Nevada Democrat, Sept. 17, 1856

Eight weeks ago Saturday last our town was laid in ashes. The sun went down on that day lighting the desolate site, where the homes of 3000 people were made desolate. Neither furniture, nor clothing, nor goods, nor merchandise were saved; with insignificant exception all were swept away. Since then a marked change has taken place in the aspect of the town, and a stranger would scarcely detect the evidences of such a calamity within its limits. The only thing that would strike his attention would be the newness of everything around him. Our streets are almost entirely rebuilt. Handsome tenements have taken the place of the old and worthless fabrics which were consumed like so much chaff. Our brick buildings have been rebuilt and many of a far superior character are going up. On the site of the old U.S. Hotel, McConn and Co. are erecting what has long been needed, a fine brick Hotel. The building is thirty two feet on Broad and one hundred on Pine Sreet. It will be three stories high and will accomodate conveniently one hundred and fifty persons. The second story is already up and the contractors Scranton and Isreal, are pushing the work with great energy. On the opposite corner, Kidd and Knox are erecting a fine block which will have five stores on the first floor, a Masonic Hall and a range of six offices on the second. It fronts 78 feet on Broad and 60 on Pine Street.

Jesse Wall has just compleetd a brick store on Broad Street above Pine, in which he has recommenced business. Other brick buildings are about to be commenced, and by the coming spring we are assured that a line of bricks from one to three stories high will extend from the U.S. Hotel down to Young's, a distance of over two hundred and fifty feet—the only interception being our ofice. It is humiliating to think of. We should not omit to mention here several very handsome brick dwellings which do credit to the taste of their owners. That of Mr. Orr is particularly worthy of notice. Several brick Churches are in contemplation. The congregationalist, Rev. Warren, pastor, and also the members o the Methodist Society north, are making preparations to commence work. The Catholics have already begun the erection of a neat and substantial frame edifice or the site of the former Church on Washington Street.

Nevada has indeed revived and is much better in appearance than before the fire. It has cost however great sacrifices, and will tax the future labor and enterprise of our citizens, to place them individually and pecuniarily where there were. We are safe it is thought from any serious danger of another vistation during the present day season. By the return of the next we anitcipate a plantiful supply of water by the extension ditch of the South Yuba Company. A few thousand dollars well apportioned will then secure us from fire beyond peradventure, and where our citizens have so much at stake, they should be wise and prudent enough to make use of it.

The Boad of Supervisors on Saturday last, awarded the contract for re-building the Court House to Messrs. Bain and Isreal, mechanics of this place. They are to take down the present walls and rebuild them, and finish the inside of the building as it was before being burned, and in addition, are to put on iron doors and window shutters ,making the structure thoroughly fire-proof.

FATE OF LOIS HARDY NOW UP TO STATE SUPREME COURT

NEVADA CITY—The fate of blonde, 90-pound Lois Hunt Hardy, convicted of the murder of James W. McLain in Eastern Nevada County last July, now rests with the State Supreme Court to which an automatic appeal is taken under the law governing convictions involving capital punishment.

Thursday without display of emotion other than a tense, nervous smile she heard herself sentenced to death in the lethel gas chamber. Her attorney, Lynne Kelly, is convinced tht the sentence is excessive. He will fight the case through the state supreme court.

Josepr L. Hardy, Jr., charged with the same murder, will appear in court today when an attempt will be made to set the date for his trial on this charge. January 16th has been set for his arraignment on the charge of jail breaking.

Lois was convicted of murder in the first degree on December 18th. The jury made no recommendation for clemency.

Lois and Joseph Hardy were arrested in Las Vegas, Nevada, following an accident which all but wrecked the car of McLain, which they had taken after slaying the man on a by-road near Hirschdale, Nevada County. Joseph Hardy made a confession of the murder ,in first person singular, which he signed, and which Lois also signed under his name. In the trial of Lois the confession was barred by Judge Snell, since he held it could only relate to the acts done by Hardy himself.

However, the testimony of Mrs. Gladys I. Dolley of Truckee, who had talked with Mrs. Hardy when she was returned from Nevada and was lodged briefly in the Truckee jail, and of Dr. Joseph Catton, SanFrancisco, psychologist, were so damaging that the jury took but a little more than two hours to reach its verdict.

STATE OF THE MINING INDUSTRY

NEVADA CITY: Up until L-208 Nevada County has always been the state's leading gold producre, top annual output running between 11 and 12 million dollars. The county always ket 2,500 miners on the job and during the last depression was the state's one white spot. At about that time the city of Berkeley, with a population approximately 100,000 was crowing about an annual payroll of $5 million. Grass Valley had an equal payroll with less than one-tenth of that population, running $475,000 per month, based on an average monthly wage of $150 per month. It can easily be seen what gold mining means to Grass Valley.

The Empire-Star, controlled by Newmont, is another of California's few deep mines, having reached a depth of 11,000 ft. on a 30 deg. incline. This we are led to believe is less vertical than the Kennedy and Argonaut has attained at Jackson. However, the Grass Valley operation, which has been worked for the past 90 years, has drifts that extended over 4 miles from the main shaft. That we believe to be a California record. High costs have at the present time limited work to a small group of miners, working on a tribute system. The miners get out the ore while the company does the milling on practically a 50-50 basis.

For a number of years the Idaho Maryland, in conjunction with the Brunswick, was Nevada County's leading producer and employed approximately 1,000 men. The Idaho's rich ore accounted for her leadership, annual output running around $5,000,000. At times recovery for a full month would run as high as $36 per ton, which at any time is good enough for three ordinary mines. The Grass Valley mines were hard hit by he Closing. order, cost to the Idaho Maryland organization running approximately $2 million. However, during 1946, under Gen. Mgr. Neil O'Donnell, the company showed a slight profit.

One of the outstanding operatoins of Nevada County at the present time is the Ancho-Erie and associated properties. During the war the legal limit of "7 old men" a 2,000' tunnel was driven, a large tonnage on a wide veni being developed. Recently the company has acquired additional adjoining lands and is now one of the county's leading producers. Their properies are in the Washington district — California Mining Journal.

HUGH BROWN WRITES LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Jan. 6, 1948.

The Editor,
Nevada City, Nugget,
Nevada City, Calif.
Dear Sir:

In today's issue of your paper, you have given front page publicity to the actions of the Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce meeting which was held last Wednesday ,December 31, 1947, at the Bret Harte Inn, Grass Valley.

It has never been my intention to criticize, unduly, the action of any civic body, or the policy of any newspaper, but when it appear that an action has not been justified I cossider it my privilege, as an interested citizen to be allowed to air my views.

You purport to publish news; that is the function of every newspaper ,yet the story of this meeting is fully six days old, and all the facts were not brought out. For instance, in reporting the events of the meeting, you singled my name out as criticizing our City Council; is it possible that you did not hear any one else?

Criticism was also levelled at the press, or not clarifyng the situation of the Chamber of Commerce in regard to our recent Fourth of July activities. Due to inadequate reports, the Chamber of Commerce was shown to have cleared a net profit of approximately Thirty six dollars. In my audit report of September, 1947, the net gain to the Chamber was shown to be $634.34, of which $604.90 was placed in a Trust Bank Account in care of a local Service Club for the promotion of a municipal Swimming Pool for the City of Grass Valley. In this connection it also might be stated that many of our townspeople are still of the belief that certain personages from the southern part of the State who graced our festivities with their presence, were the recipients of at least One thousand dollars. This is so far from the actual expenses paid amounting to One hundred fifty nine dollars and sixteen cents that it could be amusing, except for the fact that inadequate reporting to the public caused a serious breach of faith in Chamber Administration.

I am not in line with our late Presidents ob'servation that a name before the public, even under adverse conditions is desirable to no mention at all, and I very definitely resent being singled out for special mention under the present circumstances.

Yours very truly,
Hugh D. Brown.

BEAUTY OF BANNER MT. BEING DESTROYED, SAYS VAL BAIMA

Jan. 2, 1948

The Nugget,
Editor Leete,

We wish to let the readers of the Nugget know of what is taking place on Banner Mt. this very moment. No doubt it will be of deep interest to every beauty loving person to know that some of the worst types of logging known is now going on, in the privately owned lands of that watershed. The N.I.D. and some mining companies are two groups which we know of who are destructively logging off the beautiful green forest of your and our Banner Mt. And the wore thing is that nothnig is done about stopping this kind of savage logging. All one has to do is drive up to the Tull Ranch roadway, from Nevada City, and not more than a mile or two from the city limits see something which looks ilke a modern battlefield. This is what the cut over forest looks like! It is a shame that man for greed and a few vanishing dollars will do to God's heavenly forest. But as man destroys Providence's blessings so is he cursed. And what man with saw, as and charge tractor and truck are doing to the slpoes of Banner Mt., will he reap much to his sorrow some future day. You will see in the Little Deer creek area, one of our two towns most beautiful spots; being desecrated. The very material which we and thousands of citizens had hoped some day to become a playground and park area,

VAL D. BAIMA.

'48 FARM PROGRAM

GRASS VALLEY: L. E. Sleeman, chairman of the Agricultural Conservation Association Committee of Nevada County has stated that farmers interested in the program may now sign up at his office in the Veterans Memorial Building for the 1948 practices.

In past years there was a deadline for signing. This year the farmer may get prior approval on each practice 30 to 60 days before he does it. If he does not get it completed by the deadline date set by the committee for completion, when he has signed up, it becomes void and money set aside to help pay for his efforts goes back into the treasury where it is made available for another practice.

Nancy Alley Is Wed To Edward Silva

GRASS VALLEY: Miss Nancy Alley and Edward Silva exchanged marriage vows on New Years Day by candle light and in a double ring ceremony in the Congregational Church. Rev. Williard W. Turner, pastor, read the wedding service. Her father, Truman Alley, gave her in marriage.

Maid of Honor was Miss Barbara Smith of Fresno, and bridesmaids were her sister, Miss Patricia Alley and Miss Dorothy Roth.

Frank Davidson of San Francisco was best man. Lyle Alley of Auburn, Placer County, and Floy Feuerbacher of Los Gatos, Santa Clara County, were ushers.

Miss Stansfield played processional and recessional music and Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life, O Promise Me, and I Love You Truly on the organ. William Alley, brother of the bride, sang Because and the Lord's Prayer.

A reception to many relatives and friends in the church parlors gave the newly married couple a pleasant felicitation.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Alley of this city. She graduated from the Los Gatos schools and for a time was employed in the army recruiting office in Sacramento. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Silva of Lemoore, Tulare Cuonty. He graduated from Fresno schools and served in the U. S. Army as a paratrooper in World War II. He is now engaged in business in Oakland. Following their honeymoon the couple will make their home there.

Kathleen Norris Says:

When Mother Fixes the House

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"I LIKE a nice home, and I like things clean and suitable," writes an angry man from East St. Louis," but doubt if any man could stand what my wife puts me through in the way of house furnishing! We inherited a handsome big place in the very best part of town, and do what she will, Ada can't pretend that she'd ever like to move, except with the girls to the mountains for a few weeks in summer. But what she can do with this dignified old place, that my grandfather built 70 years ago, is a marvel.

"She's always been a little like that, talking lamps and rugs and running around with samples of curtains and wallpapers. But now it's an obsession. Three years ago it was the drawing-rooms, then the bedrooms, playroom, basement. Then she had the house painted an entirely new color, and now she's back on the drawing-rooms. We're not through paying for the basement, we haven't touched the paint bill, and Ada, sitting looking around our upstairs sitting room last night said thoughtfully, 'This room must be done over, and I might as well get at the drawing-rooms, too, while I'm about it. I'll telephone Kathy.'

"Kathy is the decorator," the letter goes on, "and what she gets in commissions runs into hundreds every year. Kathy finds a desk, a chandelier or a pair of candlesticks that will just exactly fit some corner of my house, and Ada falls for everything Kathy suggests. The other day I found on Ada's desk some pictures of an old stable turned into a garage, and I had a fit. We took the front out of our old stable 20 years ago, and we can run three or four cars in there, but Ada keeps reminding me that it isn't really a garage.

Always Something New.

There are new fire irons or dining room chairs in the house every few months, well, I'll pay for them all eventually, but what makes me mad is the talk, talk, talk of drapes and fringes, contrasting tones and effects. We're going to have almost black walls downstairs now, as Kathy says it was a crime to paper them in cream three years ago; it was another decorator who did that. All the fixtures have to come down and we won't have the use of those rooms for three months. Even the little girls—we have four, are pretty sick of being bounced about while their rooms are fixed to suit Mommy. What can a mere man do?"

Well, Carleton, if these symptoms in a rich and pampered wife were not spreading also to wives of all grades, I'd laugh at your letter, and suggest that you continue to give the little woman her head. You apparently live in a luxurious home, and can afford to be only mildly impatient with the restless vagaries of your wife, and her subjugation to the ubiquitous decorator, but there are thousands of husbands who can't meet the bills for fashion's constantly changing ideas on glassware, china, linen, curtains, chromium, lacquer, wallcovering.

To take an interest in home is good, indeed, it's essential in the wife and mother. And to want things to be fresh, comfortable, clean, is all good, too. But too many women today appear to be in a continual race for change. All the old furnishings are torn out, the comfortable chairs and the accustomed lamps disappear, and everyone not only has to be accommodated to the new surroundings, but also has to take nervous and meticulous care of them.

"Keeping up with the Joneses" is a great American custom. When it leads to constant and expensive remodeling of a comfortable home, however, it can become a serious menace to domestic happiness.

Ada and Carleton inherited a "big, handsome place in the very best part of town," in East St. Louis. Up to a few years ago Ada was satisfied to make small changes; repapering and repainting, buying a new piece of furniture now and then. Lately, however, she has come under the influence of Kathy, an interior decorator, who constantly urges her to extravagant purchases of furnishings as well as costly redecorating.

It isn't only the expense, complains Carleton, it's the nuisance of having the house constantly torn up, and a part of it nearly always out of use.

A few isolated cases of this nervous urge to keep up with the fads of mercenary designers wouldn't matter much if it were limited to a few wealthy idle wives, says Miss Norris, but unfortunately women at all levels are affected. The financial burden on middle-income husbands is a constant source of domestic discord. Miss Norris advises all women who may have this redecorating urge, to think seriously whether or not they are endangering the tranquility of their home.

Nothing Comfortable.

Dad can't relax on the imposing davenport that has taken the place of the old sofa. The lamps no longer move on strings, hauled now to the piano, now to the table, now to the hearth. Lights now are disguised under smooth half-hoops of chocolate-colored linen; readers must crane and twist to get any light from them at all. Chairs, desk and the $400 modern-antique highboy have their appointed places, and must neither be used nor moved.

And Mother has lost all sense of comfortable domestic leisure, when a child could scramble with his speller into her lap, and they could relax together in a big chair. No, Mother's eyes are anxiously seeking defects now, opportunities for the legitimate exercise of more extravagance; Mother's thoughts are on the Billing's auction sale, when that adorable Italian brazier and the two little Victorian towel racks are going to be sold.

Ask yourself if your own suddenly-aroused consciousness of decoration is annoying and boring the family, and irritating the man who must pay the bills. Throwing away perfectly good things because they are not in line with modern ideas of furniture, colors, hangings, designs, is a new thing with this generation of women. Our mothers and grandmothers didn't indulge in it. They loved the feel of smooth old wood, the easiness of pleasant shabby rooms, the lamps that had lighted so many happy hours. Of course an occasional good new thing came in, but never fast enough to disturb anyone, never often enough to keep mother in constant nervous stew.

"Home used to comfortable . . ."

Meat Aids Babies

Strained meat, added to the diet of six-week-old babies, protects the infants from anemia, according to Dr. Ruth M. Leverton.

Dr. Leverton's report was based on a study by the U. of Nebraska in cooperation with Lincoln and Omaha doctors. The survey, she said, showed that meat improved blood conditions and checked the disease.

Nurses caring for infants taking part in the study reported that babies receiving meat generally were "less fussy, and slept better."

Ty's Cow Goes to College

When Ty Martin went to college under the G.I. Bill of Rights, he took one of his Dad's Holsteins and enrolled it in the college herd.

Nobody thought it was odd for Ty to bring a cow to college, because that's what a lot of the boys are doing—not only cows, but chickens, sows, and ewes...for the student-operated farm.

That way the boys pay part of their expenses. They share in both the products and the profits; allocate the work; make their own schedules and rules. They're learning not only how to be good farmers but good citizens to boot. And they're learning industry and moderation—next to milk it seems to me that their favorite beverage is wholesome, temperate beer.

From where I sit, the more education is linked with practical problems of working and getting on together—and practical habits of industry and temperance—the closer we are to its true purpose.

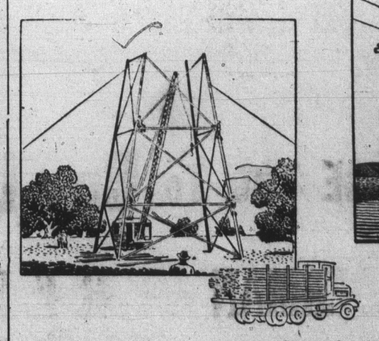
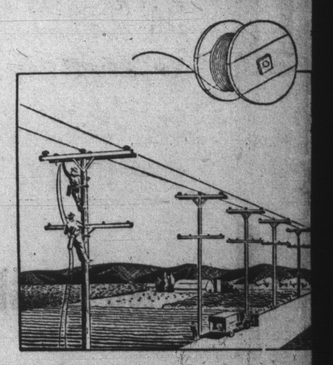
Jobs

—IN A SACK OF CEMENT
—IN A TON OF STEEL
—IN A MILE OF WIRE





1947 was a busy year of work and accomplishment for this company. Thousands of tons of cement, steel and wire have been set in place by labor in the field on scores of gas and electric projects throughout Northern and Central California.

Great construction projects, such as this company's $350,000,000 expansion program, beget jobs and spread millions of dollars through many payrolls. More than 1575 new employees were signed on with the P. G. and E. during the past year, while in the two-year period from August 1945 to October 1947 the company's payroll increased by 5845 employees. Private contractors working on P. G. and E. construction have an additional 2340 men in monthly average employment.

And beyond that are jobs in every sack of cement, every ton of steel and every mile of wire that was made or fabricated and handled and stored and unloaded at the job sites.

All of this construction money becomes constructive dollars of local wealth because it is made on the job and paid on the job in hundreds of communities in this area.

Just Wonderin'

I Wonder what I'd give the world
If I had power a gift to give,
How could I make existence sweet
For those who have a life to live?
Peace, with all war like banners furled—

Once while in conversation with a friend, Robert Ingersoll declared that is he had made the world, he would have made health contagious instead of illness. Speaking in the vernacular, I believe Robert had something there. We must admit that contagious health would be something to boast about. For instance, if one felt somewhat under the weather, wouldn't it be

BUY LOCAL MILK

Do You Want To Lose $500,000 Per Year?

Of course you don't. However, that is the dollar deficit this community faces by the possible loss of its locally owned milk industry.

THIS FINANCIAL TRAGEDY NEED NOT COME TRUE

It is no secret that outside milk distributors are seeking to take the milk revenues, which should stay in Nevada County, into large metropolitan areas.

Unless the local milk industry, representing A MILLION DOLLAR INVESTMENT here, can continue on a paying basis, YOU lose a HALF MILLION DOLLARS—those dollars we, the undersigned milk producers and the Bret Harte Dairy spend each year.

YOU DEPENDED ON US for milk during the war years and, according to records of the State Department of Agriculture, we supplied this community with more milk per capita than any other area in the state received.

We did this by KEEPING ON THE JOB from 16 to 18 hours a day. We did it at a time when dairy cattle cost us premium prices and when feeds were scarce and high priced. Why? Because we believed it to be OUR DUTY TO OUR COMMUNITY!

It has always been the AIM of the Bret Harte Dairy, whom we supply, to eventually manufacture locally, butter, ice cream, butter milk, and cottage cheese.

THIS PROGRAM CAN SUCCEED, BUT ONLY IF THE LOCAL DAIRY INDUSTRY RECEIVES THE FULL SUPPORT OF LOCAL STORES AND INDIVIDUAL CONSUMERS, THIS PROGRAM WILL MEAN MORE DOLLARS SPENT LOCALLY, AND MORE PEOPLE HAVING JOBS HERE.

THIS IS AN INDUSTRY THAT RIGHTFULLY BELONGS TO NEVADA COUNTY, MANUFACTURING GRADE MILK NOW SENT TO SACRAMENTO AND THEN TRANSPORTED BACK HERE FOR RESALE IS WASTEFUL AND TAKES YOUR DOLLARS OUT OF YOUR COMMUNITY.

LET' TALK ABOUT CALIFORNIA

MADAME PANTALOONS
By BERENICE SMALLEY

A lean, long-legged Jackson Gate miner picked his teeth and stared idly at the hefty figure striding down the street. It wore mud-stained jeans, high boots, a rough woolen shirt and a visored miner's cap.

"Nother dad-blasted newcomer," the miner meditated.

The striding figure passed him without a glance. He saw a dark, beardless face — suddenly his eyes narrowed. Those queer looking bulges in the shirt front and around the hips didn't belong on a man. "By gum!" the miner muttered, "h'its a female. Where in all git-out did she cum from?"

That proved to be a question which neither he nor anybody else at the Jackson Gate Mine was ever able ot answer. Madame Pantaloons" as the miners soon dubbed her, kept her affairs to herself. She made no secret of her sex. She was obviously no tenderfoot. Later, it became apparent that what she didn't know about gravel deposits in the Mother Lode country, could be written on a fingernail.

The richest diggings were in Squaw Gulch and Ohio Hill. Take your choice. "Madame Pantaloons" did. She staked her claim in Ohio Hill and started digging. She did a day's work with the best of them and viewed all overtures of sociability with dark suspicion.

A scant mile from the mines was the town, a lively, thriving hamlet. Narrow winding streets; stone buildings with iron-barred windows and balconied upper stories. Main Street boasted a Hangman's Tree which contributed its share to the local shindigs. Evenings when the miners returned from their diggings, the street teemed with Italians, Mexicans, Greeks, Slavs, and optimistic Americans from virtually every state in the Union.

"Madame Pantaloons" settled dows in the George Brown House. A frequenter of the saloon nearby, she drank her liquor straight, but was never known to get attempted to 'set up' her drinks, attempted to 'set up' her drniks, he found himself facing a grim, unyielding back. A deadly insult. Only her sex saved her from a challenge.

The autumn days went by. Winter, with periods of bitter cold and snow, descended upon the mines. "Madame Pantaloons" appeared impervious to weather conditions. With the other miners, she did her day's stint of digging, grimly silent.

One fine spring day "Madame Pantaloons" climbed out of her diggings for the last time. She went to her hotel, packed her belongings (considerably swelled during the months at the mines, paid her bill and departed on the stagecoach. She wasted no breath on farewells.

A few weeks later newcomers took over her claim. Jackson Gate miners got a shock. "Madame Pantaloons", they learned, had not only taken out $100,000 from her diggings—she had sold the claim to the new owners for $20,000.

great to call upon some healthy neighbor, catch an attack of health and return home to report, "all right now, if I felt any better, I couldn't stand it."

Perhaps no one of us has escaped the desire, to rearrange mundane affairs and make a few changes in the existent order of things. Many things are awry in this world of ours, the world itself is imperfect; we acknowledge this fact every time an avalanche thunders down a mountain side, an earthquake shakes earth's so-called firm foundations, or a runaway river spreads death and destruction in its wake. And, as for the affairs of humanity, who would not change them radically if he could?

At first thought, I decided that, were I able to confer a transcendent gift upon the world, I would bring in an era of peace to all mankind; but would I? A sudden and unearned gift of peace, might not be lasting; the silly pride, greed and hatred of man would be sure to bring an end to that for which we are now striving and usher in another period of war. So, what would I give the world if I were able?

After due considertion, I think I should fill men's minds with wisdom; wisdom which would enable them to see that the world in which we live is one world, that we are all members of the human race and that barriers and discriminations are childish and of no especial significence.

Yes, wisdom, sagacity as it is often defined, is one thing that might bring about the desired results in the field of human relationships, for with it, men could look forward—could, with clearer vision, penetrate the dark fog which beclouds their minds and behold in all its beauty, the citidal of Peace.

I Wonder wht great events will shape the world's progress during the year upon which we are just entering. Will wisdom grow or shrink, will those world leaders to whom we look for redress of wrongs, gain a clear perception of things as they might be? Will our own home-made Congress submerge politics and work together for the good of all? Will labor and management stop the noisy wrangling long enough to hear the echoes of a voice now silent and realize that, "production, production, production," is the real solution to many of our daily problems of living? I Wonder.

Uncle Silas says: "Russia has long been known as the bear that walks like a man, will it come to be known as the bear that talks like a donkey? That "veto, veto" of Mr. Molotov sounds mighty like a bray.

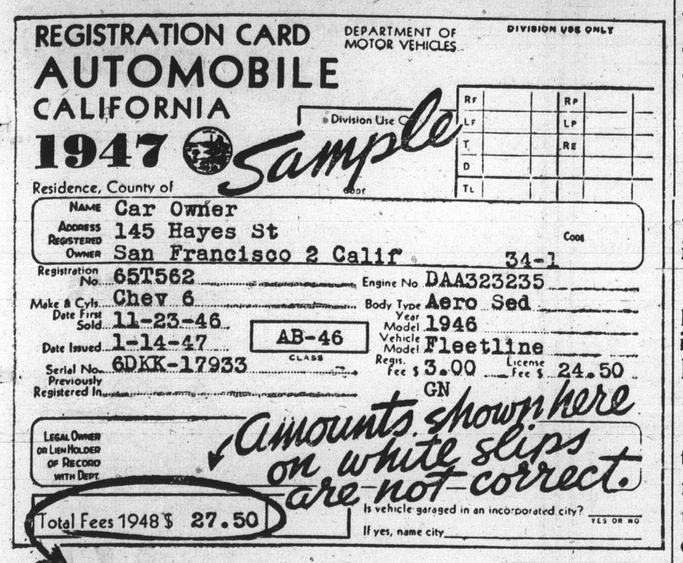
Here's How to Figure Total 1948 Fees For Private Passenger Automobiles



YOU WILL PAY A DIFFERENT AMOUNT than the figure typed in the lower left corner of your 1947 registration card, the "white slip," when you renew your private passenger automobile license for 1948. New laws changed the amounts after the slips were issued.

TO COMPUTE the "Total Fees 1948" for your passenger car, add $3 to whatever amount is shown in the lower left corner of your 1947 "white slip" and bring that total to the nearest dollar (50 cents or less is dropped; above 50 cents is brought to the next higher dollar). In the sample above, "Total Fees 1948 $27.50" becomes $30.00.

THE MINIMUM fee now set by law is $7. Car owners whose slips show $3.40 or $3.50 as "Total Fees 1948" must pay that minimum.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT OF MOTOR VEHICLES and the California State Automobile Association have issued this sample to simplify the situation for motorists. You need to figure the fee only if you intend to renew passenger car registration by mail. Clerks will compute correct fees for owners applying in person.

THE PERIOD FOR RENEWAL is January 2 to February 4, 1948, after which penalty fees are added. Passenger car owners use current "white slip," showing correct address, as renewal application. Commercial vehicle, trailer and motorcycle owners will receive from Sacramento potential registration cards in duplicate (to be used as application) showing their correct registration fees for 1948.

Dentists and Income Tax

A dentists' convention was recently told that dentists suffer from these occupational hazards: flat feet, ulcers, backaches and income tax worries. It is a relief to find there is something that, in the opinion of a dentist, really hurts.

And when they admit in convention that the income tax is a chief occupational hazard they are applying a new significance to that old dental office query, "How does the bite feel?"

—*—

We knew something was worrying our molar expert. He hasn't seemed his old self.

"Well, how are you, Mr. Wigeon?" he asked us on our 500th visit.

"The name is Boffle," we corrected, "and always has been, man and boy."

"Print plainly. . . . Give street, city and state address," he went on. "See paragraph IV."

We got into the chair.

"What seems to be the trouble?" he asked.

"It's this one," we explained, pointing.

"Ah! It's in parenthesis," he exclaimed. "This is difficult. I'll need my strong glasses."

He came back with a ledger, two billfolds and some papers.

"Is this ache for the current year 1947?" he mumbled.

The question seemed rambling.

"This is a separate ache, not a joint ache, I assume," he went on. "Makes a big difference if any part of it is your wife's. . . . And remember, you are only allowed six cavities for each child."

We were now somewhat alarmed, but he had his knee in our lap and was exploring away with a forceps, two blue pencils, a blotter and four large ink erasers.

"Looks like a fiduciary," he mumbled. "Or a loss by depreciation. . . . Am I hurting you? . . . If not see Paragraph X, Section VI. . . . Stop struggling, will ya?"

The White House Pooch

The White House has a dog. It's a cocker spaniel sent to the President and Mrs. Truman for Christmas. No longer may it be said of the trials and tribulations that come to White House occupants "This shouldn't happen to a dog."

But being the First Dog of the Land can't be so soft. If the President rolls on the floor with him, the republicans will call him juvenile.

—*—

If Mrs. Truman asks the butcher for a little extra meat for the pup, it may mean a scandal. It could even put the pooch on the witness stand before a congressional subcommittee.

—*—

And look at all the strange people a White House dog has to get used to! How many of them can unbend, shake off their dignity and act as if they loved dogs. Suppose the pooch bit a Russian envoy? War!

What chance has a dog for much attention around the White House? Certainly not much from the cabinet, which is always in a state of flux. Clint Anderson can't show enough interest in a pup to feed it something in times like these. W. Averell Harriman can't be expected to shake off inflation cares long enough to toss a rubber ball around for the animal.

And wahat freedom does a dog have in the White House? How can he shake off the worry that the bed he jumps all over may be Abraham Lincoln's? Suppose the chair leg he chews up is in the Blue room?

LIFE'S LIKE THAT
A little work, a little fun,
A struggle somewhat unabating. . . .
A little praise, a little urn—
But, oh the sting! — no Hooper rating!

To this department the annual chicken show in Madison Square Garden, New York, is a top big city believe-it-or-not. One can imagine Harry Balogh's voice ringing out "In this corner that peerless exponent of the art of egg laying, "Kid" Minorca. . . . Her opponent, that idol of the back country "Kayo" Buff Cochin. . . . And may the better cluck emerge triumphantly."

I watch and do what's best for me!
If her eyes light up, I dress and beat it,
'Cause I'm the one will have to eat it.

COUNCIL SEEKS CLEAN-UP OF CEMETERIES

NEVADA CITY: The city council considered how the Pioneer and Pine Grove Cemeteries may be cleaned up and made presentable in time for the Centennial Celebration.

Dr. C. W. Chapman representing the Native Sons of the Golden West and the Nevada County Historical Society asked for cooperation of the council in making tidy the Pioneer Cemetery. He said that the premises have been cleaned up from time to time by the Native Sons of the Golden West. The city council enthusiastically approved a plan for making approved fence repairs and cleaning the paths and premises.

William Davies, a county committee chairman appointed by the board of supervisors, said that efforts to clean up Pine Grove Cemetery had been blocked due to conflicting claims of legal ownership. Part of the cemetery is owned by fraternal organizations, part to private owners and part to a local funeral parlor. He stated that nothing could be accomplished immediately unless all owners agreed to cooperate.

$500 Business License Sought For Operators

NEVADA CITY: Milton Hogle, manager of the Donner Trails Association, and Ernest Tschapps, president of the Garage Owners Association of the Donner Summit area appeared before tthe County Board of Supervisors with a request that a $500 business license be imposed on transient truck owners for operating along Highway 40.

Hogle said that not only were garage owners with established businesses in the area complaining for themselves, but for the public. He stated transient tow truck drivers flock to the sports area in the winter time and charge higher prices for the services than do the garage men with established places of business. He submitted a petition asking for the license ordinance signed by all resort and garage owners in the area.

He asked the board to instruct the district attorney to consult with the district attorney of Placer Couny, in drawing up an ordinance which will make it difficult for transient truck men to operate. He stated that a similar petition had been presented to the Placer County supervisors. The board took no action.

THE - Diary of a 49'er

FROM THE BOOK EDITED BY C. L. CANFIELD

March 16, 1852—A miner from Auburn was telling me the other day of a case that happened there last summer. A man named Jenkins was working at the head of Missouri Gulch, "tomming." His diggings were just fair, about half an ounce a day. He had was, which was very scarce. The gulch headed in a built a little dirt reservoir to catch what water there flat and up at the end of it, where it rose up to the hills, there was a running spring, the water seeping into the flat and going to waste. In order to make his own supply hold out, he dug a narrow trench and ran the seepage into his reservoir. It worked all right for a few days and he paid no further attention to it, not even going up on the flat for a week. One morning he noticed that the water was not running in the ditch and, supposing that a gopher had tapped it, he put his shovel on his shoulder and walked along the trench to see what the trouble might be. When about half way ditch for twenty feet or more was one yellow mass of gold. It was an immense rotten quartz deposit, and inside of a month he had taken out forty-one thousand dollars. That was surely blind luck; still, there was another phase of it that was luckier. That flat was unclaimed ground. open to location by anybody. The gold must have been there in plain view day and night for a week or more. Miners were tramping around in every direction hunting diggings, yet by pure chance not one happened to cross that flat that week. Fortune started in to favor Jenkins and did not make any half work of it. As my friends said, "It just shows that when you've got the luck, it's with you from start to finish." Then he rounded off with what he called a hard luck story. The mountains are full of miners tramping around from one section to another, wandering over the country, men leaving with their piles or hunting better diggings, and there are numerous hold-ups and murders on the trails that become known only when somebody runs across the bodies. As we are all strangers to each other outside of our immediate neighborhoods, the identity of the murdered man is rarely discovered and but little interest is taken in apprehending the murderers.

Development of the each industry in California has led to a high degree of specialization, one group of varities being used for canning, another for drying, and a third for fresh fruit.

Twelve judges handled more than 687,000 individual cases in the municipal courts of hte City and County of San Francisco last year.
